

Schooldays & Follow the Strag! & ("The Properties", 1912. ("The Properties", 1912.) & By Dwig GER! IM SO HUNGRY I COULD EAT MY BEST FRIEND . IF HE WAS & BUG' NOW FATTY, WHEN
THE PARROT POLLS A LITTLE STRONGER ON THE WORM IT WILL JERN THE
STICK FROM UNDER THE THE VHICH WILL DROP AND DULL
THE STRING AND UP-L.
THE PITCHER OF CICER ON THE CAT— JUST WHAT THE CAT WILL DO IS

Betty Vincent Gives Advice on Courtship and Marriage

Lobers' Quarrels

F you are especially fond of a person, try not to say things to him or her which you will afterward regret.

A R se in Fortune. Some of us have quick tempers and some of us haven't. Of course, self-control is easier for the latter.
But it has always seemed to me that even a person who "goes off the handle" at the slightest provocation might make acquaintances rather than friends suffer from the storms.

The other way. And, really, abusing one's have suddenly improved and I wish to move among a better class of people Shall I not discontinue my acquaintance with the poor and uneducated girls I have hitherto known?"

If you really feel that they are beIt will be directly but try to persuade

Too often it is the other way. And, really, abusing one's neath you it would be hypocrisy to him to trust you. Betty Vincent that in nine cases out of ten they won't hit back.

Of course, after ward there are tears and repentance galore from the quick-

"How's the razor, sir?" "It seems to be in rough and rugged health."

keep up the friendship.

than myself, but her parents object. What course should I pursue"

Your marriage with a woman so much older than yourself would prob-ably be unhappy. Walt a year or two and see if your feelings do not change.

"N. L." writes: "I quarrelled with the girl I love, but have apologized. She will not accept the apology. What shall tempered one, but the hurt has been given, even though at me

| no answer. What shall I do?" I think you must just accept the situ "E. R." writes: "My circumstances ation, and stop thinking about the have suddenly improved and I wish to young man.

Sillygraphs. By R. Linthicum.

Copyright, 1912, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World).

Leap Year Holdups & AWILLING & (The Parties on) & By Eleanor Schorer

A 7 -1 until the notary girlie has notice nor that reasons to the minta- folly, although within himself he is juditant. For, when you come to think ture mountain of gold in front of him will the titled foreigner say it over, who is it that has been "held up?" "Yes," and reluctantly condescend to be a victim of the Leap Year's | The man or the maid?

Some Good Stories of the Day

Diploma ic Young Man.

"I. S." writes: "A young man became anary with me for the mercet gave an engagement present?"

It would be the proper thing, although your gift need not be expensive.

"R. N." writes: "I am nilecten and in love with a girl ten years older than myself, but her parents object.

"I. S." writes: "A young man became that he did not care to see me again. I have heard in love with a girl ten years older than myself, but her parents object.

"I. S." writes: "A young man became that he did not care to see me again. I have heard in the did not care to see me again. I have heard nothing from him for over a month. Would it be proper to telephone to him,"

"I. S." writes: "A young man became anary with me for the mercet trifle, and assured me that he did not care to see me again. I have heard nothing from him for over a month. Would it be proper to telephone to him,"

Unless you are seriously in the wrong, I should not do so, since he than myself, but her parents object.

Wait for her to do her part. You have done yours.

A Birihday Gift.

"E. C." writes: "I have been invited to the birthday purty of my best girl friend's brother. But I don't know him very well. Should I bring a gift"
Yes; something simple.

"E. B." writes: "A young man who told me he loved me has now written that gur friendhip must end. I asked him what the trouble was, but received him what the trouble was, but received in a factory.

"I have been invited to the birthday purty of my best girl friend's brother. But I don't know him to the birthday purty of my best girl friend's brother. But I don't know him to the birthday purty of my best girl friend's brother. But I don't know him to the sewer.

The other worked on a farm.

He sowed wheat and was called a Sower.

The other worked on a farm.

He sowed wheat and was called a Sower.

The other worked on a farm.

He sowed wheat and was called a Sower.

The sower met the Sower met the Sower but although he recovered the sewer but although he recovered the sewer begins and the sower and of the sower and the sower may be become an aviator and it made the Sower soar.

"E. B." writes: "A young man who told me he loved me has now written that the trouble was, but received him what the trouble was, but received him what the trouble was, but received him what when an old sow wheat and feed his low.

Copyright, 1912, by The Press Putlishing Co. (The New Your Would and the pigs followed as and as fast would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins as I would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins. The press Putlishing Co. The New You Would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins as I would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins as I would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins as I would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins as I would sow it the saw would eat the city where an accelerat begins as I would sow it the saw would eat the city where an acc

Silhouette Sayings

"Will you have an egg shampoo, sir?" "An egg shampoo! I can't even afford to easleggs, let alone rub '